LAS CRUCES TESTS POLL TAX LAW

Because Funds Are Needed for School Improvements Lower Rio Grande City Takes Citizens Into Court

Special Correspondence to Herald)

Las Cruces, N. M., July 6.—The supremest of the poll tax law is now being tried in the justice court before Judge Lopez, where 29 suits were filed Monday, and 26 will be filed each day until 200 are disposed of. A number of prominent men are among those suing and, some claim, that they do not own, and others claiming that tax law cannot be enforced.

The board of education is endeavoring to help the condition of the public schools and is carrying on a vigorous campaign along every biological line in order to raise money. There is some $100 due for poll tax and all delinquents have been assured that they must pay or be sued. About $100 has been collected.

At the regular monthly business meeting of the Las Cruces Volunteer Fire department Monday night, the question of a larger and better station and better equipment was brought up and discussed fully. It was decided before the meeting adjourned that every member of the department try his very utmost to make the options of Las Cruces realize that their growing city is very poorly protected from fire.

At present the department has a small chemical wagon, a few axes, a few buckets and 23 active members. The fire station is a 6 by 12 building in the rear of the Blossom-French company's lumber yard. The department is desirous of obtaining a better location as near to the business district as possible and purchased a new engine and apparatus.

A. P. Hurd of Seymour, Texas, is here looking over the valley with a view of locating Mr. Hurd came here on account of an article written by Rev. Thomas Mitchell and published in a Seymour paper. He is well pleased with the valley and intends moving here at once.

The Las Cruces citizens have organized a ball team and played their game with the Cougars on their cushion ranch Sunday. The score was 4 to 3 in favor of the Las Cruces boys.

D. E. Baker is threshing his oats out this week. His combine teams are in excellent condition and all crops are yielding heavily.

Reports brought to Las Cruces from the east side of the San Andres mountains are to the effect that that section has had plenty of rain this season. The cattle are in good condition on the Loretan ranches, and

TOO MUCH ROUGE CAUSES END OF ACTION

Police Court Racket Comes to End When "Bruises" Are Found to Be Artificially Applied.

The case of the territory against J. K. Nakard, which was tried in the county court on Saturday, was dismissed, says the Douglas Information. Nakard, who owns a small store and has some small houses which he rents, was accused of robbing and the forcible ejection of a Mexican woman from the place because she could not pay her rent. The majority was all to the side for Nakard who easily stood to pay a fine of $100. As the witnesses testified that he had grabbed, jerked and thrust the woman from the house Nakard and his wife swore that it was untrue. The grand jury came when the court asked the complainant witness to show his bruises. She calmly rolled up her sleeve and there on her arm was a small red blotch showing the finger marks of the man alleged Nakard and his wife made a hasty examination and when an officer was called he exhibited a detached handkerchief over the "bruise" and found that it was caused by pink race paint. The case was then dropped.

WILL MOUNT 50 IMMIGRATION OFFICIALS

Number of Men Will Be Placed on Horseback Patrol of Mexican Border in Immediate Future. Says Order.

El Paso, Texas, July 7.—Actions have been resolved in El Paso from Washington to the effect that instructions had been given to Chief Immigration Inspector F. W. Berkholde of the United States immigration service at El Paso to place in service at the earliest possible moment a force of United States mounted immigration inspectors to patrol the international boundary.

This news is reported to have caused considerable rejoicing among a large number of applicants in El Paso who have already passed successful examinations to enter the service here, and it is possible that Chief Berkholde will announce his appointments in the next few days.

The newly mounted inspectors will furnish their own horses and stable uniforms.

It is reported that this action by the immigration department at Washington is the result of the report reaching the department about the large numbers of Chinese who are leaving the border from the interior of Mexico with the evident intention of unlawfully entering the United States.
